

Guidelines for Private Conservation Projects

Conservation treatments should be performed only by a qualified conservator. For more information, visit the website of the American Institute for Conservation. Below is a list of select conservators and appraisers who have made themselves known to the Museum as willing to conserve and appraise works of art for a fee, but the Museum staff is not able to verify their expertise. The following list is not an endorsement of these particular appraisers, nor a guarantee of the accuracy of their work.

For additional information regarding conservation and finding local conservators, please refer to www.conservation-us.org. For finding information regarding appraisers, please refer to www.isa-appraisers.org, www.appraisersassociation.org, and www.appraisers.org.
